

FASHION DESIGNER: A SPECIALIZATION FOR ARTIFICERS

The fashion designer is able to use fabrics, textiles and other wearable materials to generate social effects.

TOOL PROFICIENCY

Starting at the 3rd level, the fashion designer gains proficiency with weaver's tools. If they already have this proficiency, they can gain proficiency in leatherworker's tools or cobbler's tools.

ARTISAN'S EYE

The fashion designer has an eye for what people wear and how they carry themselves. Whenever a check is related to fashion, clothes or accessories, they add a d6 to their roll. This roll increases to d8 at the 5th level, d10 at the 10th level, d12 at the 15th level. This die stacks with both Bless and Bardic Inspiration.

For example, the fashion designer can add this die to Int (Investigation) rolls to find out details of a character, or Cha (Persuasion) rolls to show they use their garments and how they present themselves to get what they want out of social situations.

FASHION DESIGNER SPELLS

Starting at 3rd level, the fashion designer always have certain spells prepared after you reach particular levels in this class, shown in the Fashion Designer Spells table. These spells count as artificer spells for you, but they do not count against the number of artificer spells you prepare.

EXISTING INFUSIONS AS FASHION DESIGNS

Beginning at the 3rd level, the fashion designer has access to the following "designs". Designs replace artificer infusions, and are very similar. At the 3rd level, the designer can swap their known infusions for these designs. Every time the fashion designer gains a level, they can swap their known designs or infusions for other designs. The total number of designs that they know is determined by the "infusions known" table.

The fashion designer can infuse only worn items: clothes, accessories, armor. If an infusion does not make sense on a worn item, they cannot use it. The fashion designer cannot infuse weapons.

The following infusions from "Eberron: Rising from the Last War" are modified as described below:

RESISTANT ARMOR

As a fashion design, this infusion can also be used on clothes, not just armor.

ENHANCED DEFENSE

As a fashion design, this infusion can also be used on clothes, not just armor.

REPULSION SHIELD

As a fashion design, this infusion can also be used on clothes, not just armor.

REPLICATE MAGIC ITEM

The fashion designer can replicate only worn items. For example, they cannot replicate lantern of revealing. However, they can create an infusion with the same powers so long as the item is worn, for example, as a glasses of revealing.

The fashion designer can replicate the following items, beginning at 3rd level:

- Glamoured Studded Leather Armor.

Alchemical Jug is cannot be replicated by the fashion designer.

DESIGNER HOMONCULUS SERVANT

Beginning at the 6th level, the fashion designer has the ability to create a "homonculus servant". However, the homonculus servant is actually an article of clothing or garment, accessory, or even armor. Articles of clothing can be combined to create the homonculus: For example, a scarf, a shirt, a cloak, and a pair of trousers or a pair of gloves can each be a homonculus, but they can all be combined to create one.

The "designer homonculi" are different from the regular homonculi in the following ways. Otherwise, they use the same stat blocks.

Construct Immunities. Blinded, Charmed, Deafened, Frightened, Paralyzed, Petrified, Poisoned

Cannot Attack Unless Worn. The designer homonculus cannot attack, but can still deliver a touch range spell. The exception is that shirts other garments worn around the chest can execute a smother attack with advantage if they are worn. On a hit, the creature wearing the garment is grappled (escape DC is the fashion designer's spell save DC). Until this grapple ends, the target is restrained and at risk of suffocating, but they take no damage. The attack bonus is +4. Necklaces and scarves can also execute a smother attack, and the target will still be at risk of suffocation on a missed roll, but they will not be grappled. Taking off the garment requires a second roll against the same DC, otherwise the designer homonculus can attack again.

Speed. Unless the "designer homonculus" includes a pair of trousers, their speed is 10ft on the ground - they still have 30 ft fly speed.

AC. Their AC is either 12 because of the +2 dexterity bonus, or if a piece of armor, whatever the armor has.

False Appearance. Unlike the usual homonculus, they have the trait "false appearance": While the mimic remains motionless, it is indistinguishable from an ordinary object.

Damage Transfer. If worn by a creature, the designer homonculus takes only half the damage dealt to it (rounded down), and that creature takes the other half.

Antimagic Susceptibility. If targeted by dispel magic, the homonculus must succeed on a Constitution saving throw against the caster's spell save DC or fall unconscious for 1 minute.

FASHION DESIGNS (NEW INFUSIONS)

All of the "designs" are in effect infusions, but they have the restriction that they must be on a worn garment, such as clothing, accessories, or armor.

CASUAL ATTIRE

Item: An "attire" is an entire look, and only one can be worn and used at a time. The wearer can cast the cantrip Friends as many times as they wish.

In addition, the attire gains 4 charges when infused. These charges can be expanded to cast Calm Emotions. d4 charges are regained at the end of a long rest.

INCONSPICUOUS ATTIRE

Item: An "attire" is an entire look, and only one can be worn and used at a time. This attire is for infiltrating a social group and making yourself accepted or perceived as an insider by altering your look to match them or their expectations. The wearer does not look out of place. The fashion designer must observe the group for 10 minutes, or must have previous familiarity. While this does not mean that a person has disguised themselves as a goblin or an orc, it does mean that they look like somebody who does not look out of place in an orc or goblin camp.

The wearer gains advantage on Deception rolls.

In addition, the attire gains 4 charges when infused. These charges can be expanded to cast Disguise Self. At 9th level, they can cast Geas by expanding one of the charges. d4 charges are regained at the end of a long rest.

CONSPICUOUS ATTIRE

Item: An "attire" is an entire look, and only one can be worn and used at a time. The wearer looks rich, powerful, or a combination of both. They gain advantage on Intimidate rolls.

In addition, the attire gains 4 charges when infused. These charges can be expanded to cast Suggestion. At 9th level, they can cast Dominate Person by expanding one of the charges. At 15th level, they can cast Dominate Monster by expanding one of the charges. d4 charges are regained at the end of a long rest.

STUNNING ATTIRE

Item: An "attire" is an entire look, and only one can be worn and used at a time. The wearer gains advantage on Performance and Persuasion rolls.

In addition, the attire gains 4 charges when infused. These charges can be expanded to cast Charm Person. At 5th level, they can be expanded to cast Hypnotic Pattern. At 9th level, they can be expanded to cast Geas. d4 charges are regained at the end of a long rest.
